LOCAL AGENCY FORMATION COMMISSION

AGENDA OF OCTOBER 23, 2019

REGULAR MEETING

TO: Shiva Frentzen, Chair, and
Members of the El Dorado County Local Agency Formation Commission

FROM: José C. Henríquez, Executive Officer

AGENDA ITEM #10: CONTINUED DISCUSSION ON PROVIDING DIRECTION TO STAFF ON LAFCO INITIATING THE CONSOLIDATION OF GARDEN VALLEY, GEORGETOWN AND MOSQUITO FIRE PROTECTION DISTRICTS

RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends that the Commission provide direction to staff on the issue of initiating the consolidation of Garden Valley, Georgetown and Mosquito Fire Protection Districts.

REASON FOR RECOMMENDED ACTION

This is a continuation of the discussion held at the August Commission meeting on whether the Commission would initiate the consolidation of the three aforementioned districts or give the fire chiefs more time to create their own solution. After deadlocking on two competing motions, Chair Frentzen requested that the item be returned for the October meeting.

BACKGROUND

The pros, cons and issues surrounding this potential action have not changed much and were covered in the August meeting's staff report and its attachments. As a result, they are attached here for your reference and review. There were some questions that were raised in the meeting, as well as thorough subsequent conversations and meetings, that will be answered in order for the Commission to have a more focused discussion for October.

Process

Should LAFCO initiate a consolidation, the action must be preceded by a study or MSR that supports the Commission decision to instigate the project. Since no study currently exists, technically and legally the Commission would direct staff to initiate a study. Only if the results of the study point towards an action (consolidation or dissolution) would the Commission be in a position to initiate a project.

Timing

How long the study takes – most likely in the form of an MSR – depends on several factors:

- The level of complexity involved is related to the scope of the study;
- The number of districts involved in the study; and/or
- How cooperative those districts are with information.

As an example of how those three factors interplay, studying the potential for consolidation of two districts would be less complex than studying the consolidation of three districts. Should the Commission decide to involve El Dorado County Fire Protection District (ECF) as part of the study, then the scope changes significantly because 1) ECF is much larger than the three districts in question and 2) the action could involve consolidating the three districts into ECF or detaching the Georgetown Divide portion of ECF to annex into the newly consolidating district. Lastly, if a district does not want to be involved in whatever action the Commission wants to take, it can seek to hold up the results of the study by delaying the disclosure of information or by providing partial or incomplete information that requires multiple inquiries to resolve. While districts are mandated to answer any request for information from LAFCO, there is no clause that mandates an expedited answer.

Should the results of the study recommend consolidation, should the Commission initiate it and should enough protests be submitted to trigger an election, the necessary paperwork should be submitted to the Elections Department by July 1, 2020. Otherwise, it would be a standalone mail-in election for the voters to decide the consolidation question.

Costs

The costs of the study would be absorbed by LAFCO's budget. It will entail LAFCO staff performing the study unless the Commission prefers to bring in a consultant. As noted in August, a consultant would cost between $60,000 and $90,000. The cost of processing the consolidation proposal would be absorbed by LAFCO, estimated to be in the range of $5,000-45,000 depending on the complexity and any mapping errors that may be found along the way. If a standalone mail-in election is necessary, the cost would be approximately $15,000, according to the Elections Department.

El Dorado County FPD

At the August meeting, a question was asked on why ECF was not considered part of the action. The answer bears repeating because the scope of the study depends on it. The Commission can only initiate a limited number of actions, with consolidations and dissolutions being two of those narrow sets of actions. ECF's involvement could be on one of these three possibilities:

- Its consolidation with the three FPDs on the Divide to create a brand-new agency;
- Its annexation of one or more of the three FPDs on the Divide

- Detaching the Divide portion of ECF and annexing that service area into one of the three existing FPDs and/or the annexation of that area into the consolidated district created as a result of the combination of two or three FPDs on the Divide.

Comments Since the August Meeting

LAFCO staff has heard from several individuals since the August meeting. Attached to this report are the comments from Mr. Tony Crawford. Also attached is a letter from Garden Valley FPD Fire Chief Clive Savacool to the Georgetown and Mosquito FPD Boards of Directors asking for their support of LAFCO initiating the consolidation effort. It is likely that the Commission will hear from those boards before or at the October meeting.

Your Executive Officer has met with the new Georgetown FPD Fire Chief Norm Brown. His comments were that while he has confidence that LAFCO will conduct an impartial study, he cautions against LAFCO initiating the consolidation without the input or engagement of the community and residents of Georgetown. He states that Georgetown FPD is “fine,” can continue to operate as a stand-alone fire department and does not require any type of intervention.

Opportunity Cost

Opportunity cost is the loss of potential gain from other alternatives when one alternative is chosen. In other words, it is the cost of the path not taken. It must be kept in mind that this proposal has the potential to consume a lot of time and resources, the latter of which LAFCO has a finite amount of given its budget and staffing. Should the Commission decide to initiate the study and not outsource it, then your Executive Officer will have to postpone working on next year’s budget and provide limited support to Chair Frentzen in her role as a member of the CALAFCO Board. In addition, should the Commission contemplate initiating its own proposal, it would need to budget in the costs for mailings, an election and potential litigation for FY2020-21.
